Pending destruction of the world as we know it

Join The Order of the BloodBrothers in BloodHaven to send off the world of Pax Dei before the world wipe that is pending!

As the end of our world draws near, we all gather to send off our creations to the dark expanse of the ether. With the destruction of our world brings new life within the cycle. While we shall remain, everything we once knew and loved will be purged by the gods. While we may not know when Armageddon will come for us, we are certain that one day it shall. Once the world is born anew The Order of the BloodBrothers shall once again take its rightful place, protecting the veil between realms. This is not the end for us, but only for the world as we once knew it. From the ashes we all shall rise to meet new challenges never before seen. Nothing can keep us from our vision, not even the gods themselves or their Armageddon.
