

Don't Spotlight Hog

Roleplay is a shared stage.

- Give others room to act and develop their stories.
- Share the scene instead of always driving the plot or stealing the focus.
- Do your best to make sure everyone can keep up. Typing speeds vary—give people time to write out their characters' reactions and interactions before you send more emotes.
- Do not introduce overly disruptive themes or events without proper planning. If someone plans a large roleplay event, it is not acceptable to interrupt their event with your own.

Slow down, share the scene, and let the story breathe for everyone involved.

---

Revision #1

Created 12 May 2025 02:10:20 by VoidLock

Updated 12 May 2025 02:11:18 by VoidLock